[ATLANTA, GA] Today, the Southeastern Legal Foundation (SLF), an organization of top attorneys that regularly defend constitutional rights, announced the hire of their new Vice President of Philanthropy Jamie McPherson. In this strategic leadership role, Jamie will spearhead donor cultivation and outreach to drive engagement and awareness of SLF's mission to defend and uphold Americans' constitutional rights.

Jamie has a wealth of experience in connecting donors with organizational missions to drive impact. She most recently served as the Vice President of Development for the Beacon Center of Tennessee and Beacon Impact, where she led donor relations and development operations. Jamie also brings extensive experience in media, marketing, communications, brand development, and long-term growth strategy. Jamie formerly served as the Vice President for The Tennessean and USA Today Tennessee, where she oversaw the organization's client services and sales teams to lead innovation and revenue expansion in the divisions. Additionally, highlights of her experience in national, state and local media include Publisher of the Nashville Post, Vice President of Business Development for GS&F Advertising, and Senior roles with Time, Inc. and Gaylord Entertainment.

SLF President Kim Hermann said, "We are thrilled to welcome Jamie McPherson to the team here at SLF. Jamie has proven to be an asset in multiple fields, and I am sure that she will fit right in as our new Vice President of Philanthropy. She will be working closely with new and current donors to make sure that the mission of SLF is as far reaching and impactful as can possibly be. With Jamie in this new position, there is a real opportunity to elevate our team here and to continue our success in fighting for liberty."

Southeastern Legal Foundation is a national, nonprofit legal organization dedicated to defending liberty and Rebuilding the American Republic®. Since 1976, SLF has been going to court for the American people when the government overreaches and violates your constitutional rights.
